

VNS Health Promotes Thomas Coccozza to Senior Vice President of Personal Care

MK Manoylov, Oct 21, 2026

Home care provider VNS Health promoted Thomas Coccozza to senior vice president of its personal care business line.

“I’ve been with VNS Health in the personal care business since May of 2005, in a variety of roles,” Coccozza wrote on LinkedIn. “In my first role, as a statistical analyst, I sat in a cubicle outside the office of the then-leader of the personal care business line. Now, though we’ve changed addresses in the intervening years, I’m sitting in that office. It’s a heady thing.”

Coccozza held numerous roles within VNS Health before the move. He most recently served as the company’s vice president of operations from 2024 to 2026, after first starting out as a statistical analyst 21 years earlier.

New York-based home and community health nonprofit VNS Health provides home health care, personal care, hospice, behavioral health care and health plans. VNS Health employs more than 11,500 team members and serves over 100,000 patients, health plan members and clients daily across New York.
