

Friday Look:

Homecare's Connection with Hospitals

Hannah Wolfson, March 17, 2022

The president and CEO of VNS Health, one of the country's largest at-home care nonprofits, has a pointed op-ed in the Albany Times-Union about the impact home health staffing has on hospitals and patients. Read it here.

Still in New York, the Home Care Association of New York State and others have released a report and video series about several collaborative models between hospital systems and homecare. Here's one of the videos highlighting hospital-at-home and care transition efforts.

HomeCare Magazine provides timely legislative, regulatory and business news, as well as in-depth analyses of various market segments and features on emerging issues and trends, practical how-to advice on business operations, best-practices profiles and a constant stream of new product information. It has a circulation of 32,567 Unique Visitors per Month.