People on the Move: Julia Burgdorf, VNS Health

New York Business Journal, May 20, 2025

Julia Burgdorf, PhD, a Rochester, NY native and research scientist at the Center for Home Care Policy & Research at VNS Health, recently led a peer-review study revealing that among home health care patients diagnosed with dementia, patient records of 69% failed to note that diagnosis. Findings show these information gaps are connected to increased hospitalizations, and higher costs—underscoring the need for better dementia recognition in home health.
